1/ Data Source: FFY 2016 RADEP TANF work participation database as of 10/09/2017. Two-Parent cases are included in All Family counts.

2/ A work-eligible individual is an adult (or minor child head of household) receiving assistance under TANF or a Separate State Program or a non-recipient parent living with a child receiving such assistance, unless the parent is: 1) a minor parent and not the head-of-household; 2) a non-citizen who is ineligible to receive assistance due to his or her immigration status; or 3) at state option, on a case-by-case basis, a recipient of supplemental security income (SSI) benefits or aid to the aged, blind, and/or disabled. The term also excludes: 1) a parent providing care for a disabled family member living in the home, provided that there is medical documentation to support the need for the parent to remain in the home to care for the disabled family member; and 2) at state option on a case-by-case basis, a parent who is a recipient of Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) benefits; and 3) an individual in a family receiving MOE-funded assistance under an approved tribal TANF program, unless the state includes the tribal TANF family in calculating work participation rates as permitted under 45CFR261.25.

3/ Child-only cases are not included in WPR calculations, because there are no work-eligible individuals in the case. Pursuant to language in the Deficit Reduction Act, beginning in FFY 2007, parents (including those sanctioned or timed-out) living with an aided child are considered work eligible and are no longer considered child-only cases for TANF work participation purposes.

4/ Some cases in this category are meeting the federal requirement because they include at least one teen parent who: does not have a high school diploma; is not a single custodial parent; and is participating in secondary school or education directly related to employment.

5/ Cases with no federal allowable work participation hours, less than one percent are participating in state-allowable work activities.

6/ Cases with > 20 hours of participation that are not meeting the work participation requirements participate in non-core activities (i.e., employment-related training and school attendance) without enough core hours to apply toward the hourly participation requirement.

1/ Data Source: FFY 2016 RADEP TANF Work Participation database as of 10/09/2017. Two-Parent cases are included in All Family counts.

2/ All Family work participation rules and requirements were used in the determination of "meeting" or "not meeting" the Federal Work Participation Requirements.

Hourly requirements: Single Custodial Parent case with a child under six = 20 hours; other cases without a child under six = 30 hours. In addition, for purposes of the All Family work participation rate, the participation of only one work-eligible individual is used to determine if the case meets the AF requirements to be counted in the numerator.

3/ Paid core activities include hours of paid employment and on the job training.

4/ Unpaid core activities include hours of work experience, job search, community service, vocational education, child care provision, and education directly related to employment or satisfactory high school attendance for teen parents.

5/ Non-core activities include hours of job skills training, education directly related to employment, and satisfactory school attendance (secondary education).

Federal Fiscal Year 2016 Work Participation Data (TANF) <sup>1/</sup>

- 2/ Two-parent work participation rules and requirements were used in the determination of "meeting" or "not meeting" the Federal Work Participation Requirements. Hourly requirements, combined for all parents in the case, are 35 hours or, for each teen parent, 20 hours in education directly related to employment or satisfactorily attending secondary school. In addition, for purposes of the All Family work participation rate, the participation of only one work-eligible individual is used to determine if the case meets the all family requirements to be counted in the numerator.
- 3/ Paid core activities include hours of paid employment and on the job training.
- 4/ Unpaid core activities include hours of work experience, job search, community service, vocational education, child care provision, and education directly related to employment or satisfactory high school attendance for teen parents.
- 5/ Non-core activities include hours of job skills training, education directly related to employment, and satisfactory attendance in secondary education.
